

Project no 29 Contract no 47/06.11.2006 Studies and analysis regarding the labour market – training on the instruments and techniques of grounding the employment programmes based on an analysis of the local labour market

The training programme on the instruments and techniques of grounding the employment programmes based on an analysis of the local labour market was designed for the selected personnel of the county local and national agencies for employment. The project was demanded by the National Agency for Employment and was put into practice through the Ministry of Labour, Social Solidarity and Family. The programme had a modular structure, according to the reference terms of the beneficiary with statistics modules, labour market analysis modules, projections, grounding and justification of the employment active measures programmes as well as interactive modules.