

Project no 30 The National Report of Human Development Romania 2007 “Making EU Accession Work for All”

The beneficiary of the study is UNPD – the United Nations Program for Development. The study is part of the process of building a sustainable human development in Romania according to the Millenium Development Goals, established by the United Nations. The national reports are created in each country of the globe, once every two years and they are elaborated by prestigious research institutes. The 2007 Romanian report is entirely dedicated to the labour market and social inclusion problems. The report is largely acknowledged and disseminated and it is published in Romanian and English under the UNDP aegis. The methodology is based on a plan approved by UNDP Romania and by a group of independent experts known as the National Consultative Group. The study is based on analysis, prognosis, case studies and rich statistic information specific to the human development area. The study offers the official statistics regarding the human development nationally and regionally.
